Heard and Seen at Advertiser Office

Celia Crocker brought in a child's white knitted mitten which she found Saturday near Apple's Restaurant on Main St.

E. E. Andrews, 33 Spruce St., Waterville, Mass., writes: "Have been at the farm seven months and like it. It is so quiet, haven't had a sick minute nor lost a feed. Can't do much, but pretty comfortable."

Judge W. R. Pattangall is authority for saying about $35,000,000 is the loss in 37 State and National Banks in the State. He is of the opinion that eventually that 75 per cent will be paid on interest accounts and 25 per cent on commercial accounts.

Percy Kimball of Waterford called Saturday morning. He told us of seeing a large flock of geese while coming down by the Country Club and as he nears the Norway Lake the flock took to the water. He said it was the largest flock he ever saw and estimated that there were between seventy-five and one hundred.

We have a three room, unfurnished rent to let on the first floor of the Ryerson building. It is a pleasant rent, sunny and bright, newly papered and painted, electric lights and bath. It is not suitable for a large family, but just the place for a man and wife. If interested, call at Advertiser Office and look it over.

Don Seitz: "I see you have listed the Blue Eagle; presume as a return for the snow-shoe order. Still tugging at our bootstraps, so to speak, but really paying for the dishonors of the boom period like A. H. Higgins' $225,000 salary as head of the Chase bank and a hundred thousand dollars for life thereafter."

All sorts of articles have been brought in from time to time, found in and around Norway, but the latest is some false teeth which arrived Tuesday, picked up on Lower Main Street a short while ago. Read over the Intelligence Column and you will find it interesting reading to see what is wanted, what is for sale and what is for rent as well as lost and found, etc.

Ex-Congressman Don Partridge was in Rockland the other night. He talked so well a marked copy of the Courier-Gazette was sent us. "The Hills Ahead" was the subject and was handled in a graceful and easy way. He admitted the Constitution was not infallible and must be changed to suit conditions and hoped the time would come when problems could be solved by the home people and stirring passions cooled. The address was sponsored by the Baptist Men's League of that city.

Done in a typographically artistic manner and preserved for 78 years is a copy of "The Laws of Maine Concerning Drinking Houses and Tippling Shops." It was published by B. Thurston, 82 Exchange St., Portland, size is 4 1/2 x 7 1/2 inches with yellow covers and contains 62 pages of the then existing temperance laws. Price $5. per hundred or 10 cents a copy.

It is set in nonpareil and agate type, carefully indexed and printed on rag paper. It has an ad on the last outside cover page.

Mrs. C. M. Corson who lives on the Walter Brook farm, Norway, Route 2, writes: Here is a queer piece of news: We have a rose bush that has begun to blossom again. It had eight blossoms on it, and has a lot of buds. I could not get around to make some mock honey this summer (and I was anxious to as I had never made any) so I and my little niece, Gladys Corson went out for clover. We found plenty of red clover but found it quite impossible to find the white, but finally we had enough and two over, so we picked our roses and we have the nicest honey now. We thought it much more fun to make it at this time of year."

Don C. Seitz of New York says: "Speaking of things in general, I may observe that with the abolition of Prohibition early in December and the recognition of Russia which is slated to take place about the same time, the country will get the gift that the N. R. A. has failed to give it. The latter has been hung up to please the Republican campaign contributors and is one of the big factors in the depression—next to the dry law. I am assured from a high source that it is going through. We have been cutting off noses, ears, long and the reaction has become serious."

Mrs. Charlotte S. Hunting of Welchville was a caller, Saturday afternoon and promised to submit for our antique writer a nice lot of ancient documents from Plymouth, Mass., where she resided many years. Many of the time-worn paper and bear dates a generation or so before the Revolutionary War. She was born in Oxford eighty years ago and is familiar with the history of the town. She called attention to Soule's Tavern on the East Oxford road as the homestead of her great grandfather. The hostelry entertained many prominent guests traveling by stage between Portland and Paris Hill. We might add she traces her family ancestry to Capt. Miles Standish and other Pilgrim Fathers and Mothers.

Hon. Ransford W. Shaw of Houlton writes Edlin A. Greenleaf of Norway as follows: "I noticed a squib in the paper about your wanderings and was pleased to learn that you are hale and hearty at eighty. I am one of the few living men who can help you prove some of the lies you have told about hunting. It was thirty-five years ago this fall that we were at Fred Stimpson's camp on Umeauks Lake and we certainly had a lot of fun. You came to the camp one night and had a lot of story about shooting both the fore legs off a deer. We all allowed that was a hunter's lie and the next morning I went with you to get the deer. You showed me where he started to run across the road ahead of you and had to jump to go over it you fired and the bullet broke the bones in both his forward legs. I saw the deer and helped you to prove your case to the boys."

"I have forgotten the names of the men who were there, but your friend, the head-hunter, was Bangor and the old bangor player were present with Fred and Dr. George Nickerson. "It was next fall that we were caught in the tornado while crossing the Lake and had to land two miles away from the camp and walk around. Well those were happy days and I kept run of you during the years that you were at Moosehead and then I lost run of you. Fred went away last year and the old fellows are fast leaving for the happy hunting grounds. It will be our turn soon."

Note: Mr. Greenleaf fails to recall the name of the Bangor hardware man but the bangor player was Charles Morris of the Morris Bros. Musical Troupe who stormed the country in those days.

We are beginning to feel neglected. A glance at the lower above ten towns have failed to pay for the printing of their reports. Maybe the "New Deal" and the R. F. C. haven't got to those towns as yet. How so?

Ray Leeman, caretaker of Trout Pond Preserve, formerly Allen's Pond, at East Stoneham, was a recent caller. He says it seems that the trout had left the pond "died or run away—none are seen any more."

When I am sitting by the fire
As the twilight shadows fall,
I feel so sad and lonely
With no one to hear my call.
I was very happy once,
But only a few short years,
God called my loving husband home
And left me sad in tears.
Time helps to heal all sorrows
But I never can forget
The many happy hours I spent
Still lingering with me yet.

Cook Electrically

See how electric cooking helps you to earn a lower rate

Average home without electric range uses at a monthly cost of about

30 Kwh $2.10

Average home with electric range uses at a monthly cost of about

150 Kwh $6.00

5 TIMES AS MUCH ELECTRICITY—LESS THAN 3 TIMES AS MUCH IN DOLLARS AND CENTS

The simplest explanation of why electric cookery is so much cheaper than most people realize is because with an electric range you buy your electricity "WHOLESALE".

is 7 cents per kilowatt hour. 150 kwh for $6.00 is only about 4 cents per kilowatt hour. ALMOST ONE HALF!

With an electric range, or refrigerator, or water heater, you automatically earn a lower rate per kilowatt hour. Take the example above: 30 kwh for $2.10

Thus the home that cooks electrically pays less per kilowatt hour for washing, for ironing, for refrigeration and for all the other uses of electricity.

Electric cooking is CLEAN

(pots and pans are kept spotlessly clean... scrubbing and scouring are unnecessary... electric heat is as clean and pure as sunshine.)

Electric cooking is FAST

(Now Hi-Speed Calrod units, an exclusive Hot Point feature, make electric cookery as fast as any other method. Just turn the switch and almost INSTANTANEOUSLY there is direct heat.)

Electric cooking is TIME SAVING

(put the dinner in the oven, come back hours later, and it will be cooked perfectly)

Electric cooking is HEALTHY

(it SEALS in the full flavors of foods... PRE-SERVES nourishing juices and necessary vitamins.)

Electric cooking is ECONOMICAL

(about half your cooking is done on STORED HEAT... ONE CENT PER MEAL PER PERSON IS WHAT OUR AVERAGE CUSTOMER PAYS FOR ALL THESE BENEFITS.)
